

CONTRACT IS LET

H. E. COOK TO DO WOODWORK FOR SMITH-CRAWFORD.

Contract Price is $6390—Van Dusen Will Do the Brick Work for $4388—Four Other Firms Bid on the Carpenter Work and One on the Stone Work—Building Will Be 92x100, to Be Located at Corner of Main and Water Streets.

The contract was yesterday let for the carpentering of the new Smith-Crawford business house at the corner of Main and Water streets, to H. E. Cook for $6390. The contract for the brick work was let to Van Dusen for $4388. C. E. Troutman is the architect.

Under this contract Mr. Cook furnishes the labor for the carpentering, and furnishes the lumber, milled lumber, plastering, galvanized iron, skylights, hardware, joist hangers, setting of the structural iron, etc.

Mr. Van Dusen furnishes the brick which will all come from the Weston yards, both common and pressed, the tile vestibules, etc.

Those who bid unsuccessfully on the carpentering were as follows: A. J. Gibson, $7762; Sheek & Cole $7786; Boothby & Hale, $8223; Yates & Elstrom $8312. Dan May bid $4500 on the brick work.

The owners will furnish the plate glass, the prism glass and the structural iron.

This building is to be 92x100 feet on the ground, with basement the full size, and with the second story also the full size. It will be trimmed with terra cotta. The first story will be finished in two large store rooms. The second story will not be finished at present, but eventually will be probably be made into office rooms.

The car famine being broken, it is probable that work on this building will be begun immediately, as both lumber and brick can begin to arrive very soon.

Household Effects to New Zealand.
There was billed out of the O. R. & N. freight office at this place about five tons of freight, nearly all household effects.

hold goods, the belongings of W. E. Frey and wife, destined for Dunedin, New Zealand. Among the effects was an upright piano weighing nearly a ton. The freight charges on the entire consignment from Pendleton to Vancouver, B. C., were about $160, and from Vancouver to Dunedin about $200. The distance to be covered by this freight is over 16,000 miles and it is thought to be the longest routing ever made out of Pendleton.

SEEKING A CONTRACTOR.

New Bank Building to Cost $6000 to Be Erected at Once.

J. E. Cronan, who lately purchased the Bank of Ione, was in town yesterday in company with J. A. Woolery, the well known merchant of that place. Both came to negotiate with architects and contractors for the planning and erection of a new bank building in Ione, which will cost in the neighborhood of $6000. It is to be of brick, and of a severely plain style of architecture.

Both these gentlemen are more than pleased with Pendleton. Mr. Woolery has an intimate acquaintance with this place, but it was Mr. Cronan's first trip here. He visited every part of town, and left declaring it to be the finest of the smaller cities of the entire Northwest.

Mr. Cronan was two years ago the unsuccessful democratic candidate for governor of North Dakota. At one time he was United States marshal for North Dakota, and has served two terms as sheriff of his county.

DEATH OF W. A. DOZIER.

Aged Resident Dies at Home of a Daughter Near Nolin.

William A. Dozier, a pioneer resident of Umatilla county, died last night at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Ed Dupuis of Nolin. The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon from the Dupuis residence. Death was due to senile decay.

William A. Dozier was born in Knox county, Ky., November 30, 1844. He is survived by the following children: Mrs. Burnett, Dr. W. B. Dozier and Reuben Dozier of Knox county, Ky.; Mrs. Ed Dupuis of Nolin; R. A. Dozier of Weston, Ore.; John Dozier of Pendleton; W. A. Dozier of Augusta, Mont.; Sarah Burnett of Clarke county, Wash., and Miss Lizette Dozier of Pendleton.

Professor French in Harney.

President R. C. French of the Weston Normal school, was one of the instructors at the teachers' institute, which closes here this afternoon. Professor French expressed himself as well pleased with his reception here and praised the people for their hospitality and friendliness. He informs the Times-Herald that the Weston Normal has an excellent attendance this year, the dormitories being completely filled and the school progressing satisfactorily. —Burns Times-Herald.

Journalist to Wed.

Robert L. Ringer, a young Spokane newspaper man, passed through Pendleton last night on his way to Grangeville, Idaho, where he is to be married to Miss Eleanor S. Shaw. Mr. Ringer is employed on the Spokesman-Review. He graduated from Whitman college a year ago last June, and did his first newspaper work in Walla Walla. He formerly resided in Grangeville.

EDWARDS RETIRES

CONGREGATIONAL PASTOR WILL TAKE A VACATION.

Rev. Thomas R. Egerton, of Corvallis, Will Succeed Rev. Edwards, Who Will Reside in Pendleton But Will Follow Evangelistic Work for a Time—New Pastor Will Arrive in About Two Weeks to Enter the Church Work Here.

Rev. Jonathan Edwards, since April, 1902, pastor of the Congregational church at this place, has resigned his charge, vacated the parsonage and moved into the Killian dwelling in the extreme southeastern part of town.

This action of Mr. Edwards comes as a great surprise to the public in general, though his retirement has been contemplated for some time by him, and reluctant acceptance made of his resolution by the congregation. His intention is to take a protracted vacation from the regular work of the church and engage in evangelism, perhaps in an itinerant nature.

Mr. Edwards was for 14 years pastor of the Pilgrim Congregational church in Spokane, and for several years pastor of the Congregational church at Warrenton, Idaho. For several years he was financial and traveling agent for Whitman College.

Rev. Thomas R. Egerton, who comes here from a temporary residence at Corvallis, will be Mr. Edwards' successor. Comparatively little is known of him here, aside from the fact that he will come with first-class recommendations, and that he was at one time pastor of the Congregational church at Seatonville, Ill.

Mr. Egerton was a soldier in the Spanish-American war, and lost his health as a result of the service, and came West to regain it. For a year past he has been on a fruit farm near Corvallis, resting from active ministerial work, and endeavoring to regain his health.

Rev. Egerton is married and has seven children, and is about 45 years of age. His first appointment in Pendleton will be in about two weeks.

PIONEER FROM EUGENE.

J. Hoffman Camped in 1851 Where Pendleton Now Stands.

Dr. T. H. White is enjoying a visit from his uncle, J. Hoffman, of Eugene, who is one of the very early pioneers of Oregon. In 1851 Mr. Hoffman was one of a party of immigrants who camped upon the present site of Pendleton, or perhaps just west of town—in fact, made their headquarters for the entire winter of 1851-2 at this point while they wintered their stock in McKay creek.

Later than the time mentioned Mr. Hoffman ran a pack train from Umatilla Landing to the Grand Rond and on to Boise, and for many years was a trader and miner in this and the southwestern part of the state.

Mr. Hoffman has long been at Eugene. Mr. Hoffman will accompany his nephew to Hot Lake Sunday and visit there with his brother and sister, the latter, Mrs. M. E. Alford, of Baker City. He will then return to Pendleton and make his nephew and family a protracted visit.

WOODCRAFT AFFAIRS.

Several Cities Preparing to Contest for the General Offices.

Mrs. C. C. Van Orsdal, grand guardian of the Women of Woodcraft, who is in the East on business pertaining to the order, is expected to return to Pendleton about the first of November. The grand circle meeting of the order will be held in Los Angeles in April and at that time several cities of importance will try to secure the offices of the grand lodge of the order.

In February the various states in the Pacific jurisdiction will hold district conventions to elect delegates. The place of the state meeting in Oregon has not been selected.

TO FIGHT THE RUSSIANS.

G. Nodusa Starts Out at a Rapid Pace, But Lands in Police Court.

Pursuing a host of imaginary Slavs G. Nodusa, a diminutive Jap, astride an iron-grey charger, dashed at full speed down Main street yesterday evening. With an awe-inspiring screech, that may have been the battle cry of the Mikado's troopers, or the result of too much American booze, little Nodusa rowled his panting steed and trampled under foot the dead and dying of his supposed enemy.

Squad, troop, squadron, regiment, brigade, division and army corps, the little brown man and his Indian

Saturday's East Oregonian.

Saturday's big East Oregonian will contain 16 pages, almost 1000 inches of advertising matter, a comic colored supplement and all the local and telegraphic news. The East Oregonian goes into 91 per cent of the homes of Pendleton, besides circulating in every outside locality in Umatilla and three adjoining counties. It reaches the home just in time to be read under the evening lamp by all members of the family and is the logical advertising and news medium of the county. If you don't find the advertisement in the Saturday East Oregonian, the firm you are looking for is dead to the world.

pony composed them all. Private, corporal, sergeant, subaltern and every officer up to commander-in-chief, including medical corps, field and staff, his American jag provided.

But there was one white policeman whom he forgot when he planned his wonderful assault and drove the hordes of Cossacks before him. Chief Carney flanked his forward onslaught and the tide of victory was turned, the flying Russians had an opportunity to reorganize, while the Japanese in disgrace was taken prisoner by the Americans.

"Me go fight Russia," declared the captive in explanation of his conduct to Rezseder Fitz Gerald.

"Five days," said the judge, when the little man had finished. "The neutrality of these United States must be preserved."

WIFE SEEKS DIVORCE.

Carrie B. Edwards Names All the Crimes in the Category in Her Complaint.

Cruel and inhuman treatment, drunkenness, neglect, failure to provide, unjust allegations as to her moral character and threats to kill, are allegations made by Carrie B. Edwards in her action for divorce against McCullough Edwards. Proceedings were instituted in the state circuit court this morning.

The Edwardses were married at Long Creek, Or., October 11, 1887, and have three children. The wife desires their custody and a share of her husband's property which consists of 160 acres of land and some livestock in Grant county.

KILLED IN RUNAWAY.

Sam Page Found Dead This Morning Near Wallula.

Just as the paper goes to press word reaches Corvallis that a man named Sam Page was found dead this morning in the wheat field of Dave Marshall, six miles from Wallula.

Page was a water hauler for a threshing crew and as one of his team horses was found dead in the field near by, it is supposed Page was killed in a runaway.

Dr. Henderson leaves for the scene of the accident on the W. & C. R. train this evening.

May Start Poultry Farm.

Joseph Chesney, of Stockton, Cal., with his brother-in-law, M. J. Watson, of Stockton, Kan., arrived yesterday and will today go out into the Blalock mountain country to visit with the latter's brother and other relatives. They will return here in about a week, or perhaps longer, and intend to canvass all the opportunities this vicinity may afford for starting a first-class poultry yard. Their intention is to raise only well-bred fowls, and at least try to supply the contiguous mountain and ranch districts.

Stockman From Kansas.

Martin Colson, a farmer and stockman from Smolan, Kan., arrived yesterday and will spend a month in this county and afterward go into the Yakima and Palouse. He has friends—the Dalsteins and Berougs—some of whom are in the Echo country and others west of Pilot Rock, and Joseph Eckstrom, a neighbor of his in Kansas lately took government land in the southern part of the county. Mr. Colson expects to invest somewhere in the Northwest.

Trained Nurse From Wichita.

Miss Emma Thruhn, a recent graduate of a nurses training school in Wichita, Kan., has arrived, going north on the morning train. She has will visit near Milton with the Seareses, recently from near Wichita, and comes with the intention of locating in the Northwest. She will spend the winter here unless she makes a permanent engagement with a Seattle hospital to nurse a special line of cases.

D. W. Swearingen Very Ill.

The Swearingen brothers yesterday received a telegram from the wife of their brother, D. W. Swearingen, who lives at Reno, Nev., that the latter is very ill with typhoid fever. The telegram stated that a letter would follow immediately. J. W. Swearingen works for the Southern Pacific, and carries excavating contracts with that company on a large scale.

J. S. GURDANE INJURED.

Aged Pioneer Thrown From Buggy in a Runaway Accident.

J. S. Gurdane, a pioneer resident of Pendleton, and formerly state representative, was thrown from a buggy in a runaway last night and severely injured. His head came in contact with a telephone pole and he was rendered unconscious for several hours. The injured man is much improved today and his recovery is thought to be but a matter of a few days.

Gurdane was returning home last night in a one-horse buggy when his animal became frightened at a band of dogs and bolted. Gurdane's right hand and the side of his head were badly lacerated by the collision with the pole.
